

'SURE CURE' CAUSES ARREST.

Bank Secretary Held by Magistrate for Special Sessions.

Being an alleged dispenser of infallible nostrums at his residence, through his official position as that of secretary of the Greenpoint Savings Bank, brought George W. Peeler, No. 122 Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn, into the Eastern Avenue Court today on a charge of violating section 46 of the Sanitary Code. He was accused of distributing a remedy labeled "Dr. R. H. Peeler's Antidote for the speedy and certain cure of diphtheria, scarlet fever and common sore throat."

For Four Days Boy Scouts and Police Have Sought Elisha M. Sanford.

COUNTRY SIDESCOURED

Former Railroad Attorney Took Razor With Which to "End It All."

(From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)
EAST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 14.—Ever since Saturday noon, passing and repassing over the fifty-acre waste of woods, scrubby timber and sand which lies at the head of Midland Avenue here, squads of Chief William H. O'Neill's Boy Scouts, aided by Boy Scouts and half a dozen members of the regular police force, have been searching for what they fear will be the self-slain body of Elisha M. Sanford, formerly attorney for the Santa Fe Railroad at Prescott, Ariz.

Depressed by financial reverses, Sanford took a razor from the bathroom of his home at No. 164 Midland Avenue Friday afternoon, remarked wildly to his wife that he would "end it all," and disappeared in the direction of the sand pits. His wife, Mrs. Eleanor B. Sanford, tried to restrain him, but she is a cripple, and her infirmity made effective pursuit impossible. She called to a boy passing on a bicycle, imploring him to intercept her husband, but the man's wild manner so frightened the lad that he did not even follow him.

WIFE HAUNTS NEIGHBORS' TELEPHONE FOR NEWS.

Mrs. Sanford remained on the look-out all of Friday night, and when her husband did not return she notified Chief O'Neill. Since then, heavy-eyed and trembling from lack of sleep and nourishment—neither of which she has allowed herself since her husband's disappearance—Mrs. Sanford has haunted a telephone in the home of a neighbor, calling Police Headquarters every hour in the hope that her husband has been found alive.

Last night, as on the other three nights, she turned on every electric light in the house, switched on the porch light, and then, unable to bear the loneliness of the place, stole out into the darkness and paced painfully up and down the sidewalks of the neighborhood until daybreak. Neighboring neighbors have counseled her, but Mrs. Sanford only answers gently, "I know—but I don't want rest; I want him back."

The missing man was a quiet, uncommunicative sort, about sixty years old. His face, with its high forehead, bore a striking resemblance to that of the late President William McKinley, so much so that in Canton, O., at one time, he had repeatedly been addressed on the street as "Bill" by persons who thought they knew him. When he left home he had just been cleaning up some rubbish in the cellar and was dressed in a blue cotton shirt, an old pair of trousers, old shoes and a yellow straw hat. He stands about 5 feet 11 inches, is smooth-shaven, and unusually bald.

COMES FROM WEST TO MEET FINANCIAL REVERSES.

In his Western days, Sanford lived at Prescott for nearly thirty-five years, according to his wife. He has a son, Earl, living there now, and two daughters, Daisy, who is married, and Pearl, single. Mrs. Sanford does not know where they live. His sister, Mrs. Mary Sanford Nicol, lives at Carbondale, Pa., where he and his wife were preparing to pay her a visit as soon as their affairs straightened out a bit.

His first wife having died, Sanford came East about eight years ago to promote Arizona mining properties. He met the present Mrs. Sanford at the Albert Hotel, University Place and Eleventh Street, New York, where she had lived for many years. Mrs. Sanford is the daughter of Oliver H. Steele of Plainfield, N. J., and is the owner of considerable property. She has two apartment houses in Jersey City and nine dwellings of various sorts in East Orange. Unfortunately, as she explains, many of them are mortgaged, rents are hard to collect, and actual cash painfully scarce of late. A man in Roselle, N. J., who she says owes her $100, has been putting off payment on various excuses, and had promised to get her husband a position with a Denver mining concern. The day Sanford disappeared he had just received another evasive answer from the Roselle man, says Mrs. Sanford, and she considered it the last straw which determined her husband in his intention to make away with himself.

The East Orange police have sent out a general alarm and taken all the usual precautions in such cases, but Sanford had no money with him when he left home and it is the general belief that he will be found not far off.

BOSTON LABOR HEADS PROBE MUNITIONS PLOT

Committee Hears of Scheme to Instigate Strike of 25,000 Longshoremen.

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—The alleged German plot to prevent shipment of war munitions to the allies, by instigating a strike of 25,000 longshoremen in Atlantic Coast cities, as charged by the New York World, will be investigated by the Boston Central Labor Union.

President John J. Barry of the labor union has called a special meeting of the executive board of the organization for to-night, and special attention will be given to the connection with the alleged plot of Dennis D. Driscoll. Driscoll is one of the foremost labor men of the city, and was formerly President of the Central Labor Union.

It was claimed in The World's exposure that Driscoll introduced Matthew Cummings, formerly National President of the A. O. H., to officers of the longshoremen's union. Cummings, it was alleged, was the "go-between" of "big Germans" in the alleged $1,000,000 plot to tie up the ammunition shipments.

MEXICAN CONFERENCE HERE.

Pan-American Board Will Hold Next Meeting on Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The third Mexican peace conference of Pan-American diplomats will be held next Saturday at New York. It was announced to-day. Illness of Brazilian Ambassador De Gama caused the postponement.

Aged Woman Killed by Gas.
Mrs. Annie Sheppard, seventy-five years old, was found to-day dead of gas in a chair in her room at No. 66 West One Hundred and Thirtieth Street by John Clark, the landlord. The gas jet in the room was turned on full, but as the window was partly open the police set the death down as due to accident.

Heat Closes Pittsburgh Schools.
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14.—Schools were closed here this afternoon because of the heat. The official noon temperature was 92, breaking September records.

Liver and Bowels Right. Always Feel Fine.
There's one right way to speedily tone up the liver and keep the bowels regular. Carter's Little Liver Pills will testify that there is nothing so good for biliousness, indigestion, headache or sallow, simply skin. Purely vegetable. Small Pill—Small Dose—Small Price. GENUINE must bear signature.

S. S. PRATT, FINANCIAL WRITER, DIES IN TROY

Former Editor Was Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Here for Several Years.

Word was received here to-day of the death in Troy, N. Y., of S. S. Pratt, secretary of the New York Chamber of Commerce since 1908, a recognized writer on financial subjects and for several years editor of the Wall Street Journal, who lived with his wife at No. 711 Carroll Street, Brooklyn.

Mr. Pratt was born in Westmoreland, N. Y., and was fifty-seven years old. He studied at the University of Vermont. Thereafter he entered newspaper work and occupied editorial positions with the Commercial Bulletin of New York, the Journal of Commerce and the World. Later he became New York correspondent for the Baltimore Sun and then manager of the New York bureau of the Philadelphia Ledger. Following the publication of his book, "The Work of Wall Street," he was appointed financial editor of the Times, resigning to become editor of the Wall Street Journal, remaining in that capacity until his election as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The funeral will be held in Dorset, Vt., Friday. Mr. Pratt is survived by his wife, two married daughters and a son.

ALLEGED SPY IS ILL; IS SENT TO HOSPITAL

Federal Judge, However, Orders Lincoln Returned to Jail in Brooklyn.

United States Marshal Power of Brooklyn learned to-day that Ignatius T. Lincoln, who has been ordered extradited to London, where he is wanted on a charge of forgery, and who is fighting extradition in the ground that England really wants to execute him as a German spy, was not in Raymond Street Jail, to which institution he was committed last Friday by Federal Judge Veeder. Marshal Power immediately communicated with Warden Hayes of Raymond Street Jail.

The warden said Lincoln had developed an abscess in the ear, and as the Raymond Street Jail has no hospital, he had been sent to the prison ward of Bellevue.

Justice Veeder was notified by Marshal Power, and he issued an order that Lincoln be returned to Brooklyn at once. If he requires medical treatment he will be taken to a Brooklyn hospital under guard of a deputy marshal.
